

For Immediate Release
By: Kalei Brooks

9 June 2009

Yellow Ribbon Program Headed Mat-Su, Interior, Kaktovik

Team will help veterans understand their benefits and guide them to available resources

CAMP DENALI, Alaska—The Alaska National Guard Yellow Ribbon Program is back on the road and will be traveling to the Mat-Su Valley, the interior and Kaktovik to provide information and assistance to veterans regarding their benefits and entitlements earned while in service.

The goal of these events is to bring information to rural Alaska communities and educate service members on their benefits. Veterans of all military branches, including members of the Alaska Territorial Guard, are encouraged to attend, as well as military dependents and troops currently serving.

June 10: Willow Community Center from 10 a.m. to noon, Houston Community Center from 1-3 p.m. and Talkeetna VFW from 5-7 p.m.

June 11: Cantwell High School from 9-11 a.m., Healy Community Center from noon to 2 p.m. and Anderson Community Center from 5-7 p.m.

June 13: Kaktovik from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

June 14, 15, 16: Fairbanks American Legion post on 129 1st Ave. The event on Sunday and Monday will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Tuesday from 1-4 p.m.

June 17: North Pole American Legion post on 3483 Old Richardson Hwy. from 2-4 p.m.

Trips to other rural Alaska communities across the state are in the works and forecasted to run until September 2010.

On most trips, the traveling team will consist of a State Veterans Service officer, who deals directly with veterans regarding benefits and entitlements; the Transition Assistance Advisor, who provides assistance with transitional services; a Military Family Life Consultant to assist where needed; an Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve specialist, who can assist with employer and employment concerns; a Family Assistance specialist, who will bring Family Programs support; and members of the Alaska National Guard command.

The team will be on hand to answer questions and assess the needs of veterans so that the right resources can be directed their way. For example, if veterans don't understand how to get their disability or how to get an appointment with the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, the team can help with those issues.

For more information and to find out when a traveling team is coming your way, contact the Family Programs office toll-free at 888-917-3608 or local to Anchorage at 907-428-6663.